

Sans Uzma

The most asked question among city folk who attended The Trousseau Week 2013 at UB City on Thursday was “Where is momma?” Yes... They were referring to Uzma Irfan of the Prestige Group. The Week is the brain child of Irfan, but she was missing. A source told the diarist that Irfan injured herself while exercising at the gym on Thursday morning. “She has broken an elbow,” the source said. Ouch! Hence, she was not at the delivery of her baby. “My trainer thought he would make me look better in an evening,” Irfan joked while talking to the diarist over the phone from her hospital room. She will be discharged today. Get well soon!

